CHEERS FOR THEIR BOSSES. | Diamonds from

looked over toward the side door, whither al other eyes were turned, and saw his associate in the boss-ship, Senator Murphy, enter and walk to his place at the desk.

MARCY'S SUCCESSOR IN THE SENATE.

The applause which greeted Senator Murphy was spontaneous and warm. It seemed to mean that he personified something dear to these peo ple, that he had their feelings and sentiments, and that he was cheered because he had also the power to express and accomplish them. Here, then, stood the embodiment of Democratic aspirations, a leader of the host which controls the government of New-York. It was interesting to look him over. His face is not unlike that of William F. Howe, the well-known crim inal lawyer, except that it is less intelligent and much less strong. It is fat and heavy, His hair is silver-gray and would be handsome if it were not so coarse and straight. His figure is tall and large and round. He made his first money making beer, but his principal fortune has come from the use to his personal advantage of political power. As an Alderman in Troy, as President of the Board of Aldermen, as Mayor and as the boss, he has trained little conduits from the gas franchises, the electric franchises, the street railroad franchises, the bridge franchises, and pretty much everything else into his own bank account. It is literally true to say that you can't get into Troy nor out of it, nor anywhere within it, nor can you remain there twenty-four hours without paying tribute to Edward Murphy. They tell queer stories there of his early days, stories about cockpits and other things. They say he knows a great many people who have been in State prison, and that he doesn't throw it up at them. And now, in the year of grace 1893, and of our inde pendence the 117th, this gentleman with his corpulency and his franchises sits in the seat where Marcy sat, sits in the seat of Wright and Seward, of Conkling and Evarts. It seems strange when you look at him.

MR. LOCKWOOD AS A PROPHET.

And yet these people cheered him wildly, and really he must be representative-a United States Senator, a State Committee chairman, a machine boss. The band played "Th Conquering Hero," music that Grant said al ways made him tremble, but it made Mr. Murphy smile. When it had done he called the con vention to order, and said briefly that the State Committee had unanimously directed him to nominate the Hon. Daniel Lockwood, of Erie. to be temporary chairman. The convention approved the nomination of Mr. Lockwood, as with equal entrusiasm it would have the nomination of John Doe or Richard Doe, and Mr. Lockwood came forward and made speech. He began by saying that he had nothing much to say, which proved to be entirely true. He attributed it to the circum stance that he had only just been informed that he was to have the distinguished honor of presiding over their temporary organization certainly a curious fact, since it was known yesterday afternoon and printed in all the morning papers to-day. There was one striking statement in Mr. Lockwood's remarks. He said that the Democratic party was pledged to repeal the Silver Purchase acand that "only a few days more would elaps before the Unconditional Repeal bill would pass the Senate, and the pledge be redeemed." There is evidently nothing the matter with Mr. Lockwood's nerve. He is as reckless of prophecy as Lieutenant Totten-more reckless, indeed as Lieutenant Totten—more reckless, indeed, for Totten can prove all he says by the prophet Daniel, while Lockwood has no one but poor Voorhees to fall back on.

NAMES THAT WERE APPLAUDED.

Mr. Lockwood congratulated the convention on the opportunity it had to meet in the grand new convention hall so liberally provided by the citizens of Saratoga Springs. The country, said he, is to be congratulated that we have a Democratic Administration at Washington. (Silence.) The Democratic party is pledged to honest money, and in a few days the repeal of the Sherman law will be accomplished in plause.) The Democratic party will repeal the Republican Election law iniquity. (Applause.) All the pledges of the party will be fulfilled. New-York can say to the Nation that her two sons who occupy seats in the Senate are true Democrats. (Prolonged applause.) Democratic legislation and Democratic laws have lessened the tax burden of the people. (Applause.) The future of the Democratic party is linked with the future of the American Republic. With an Executive at Washington who is fearless and a majority of the delegates from his Congress honest-with Grover Cleveland (prolonged applause) the rights of Americans will be protested With Roswell P. Flower (great

ing) in the executive chair at Albany, the agricultural and industrial interests of the Same know they have a friend. Under these conditions the future of our country grows brighter. When Mr, Lockwood had done the roll was called, and a further illustration of the ideas of Democracy will be found in an enumeration of the names which were applauded as the clerk called them off. They were these: Robert P. Bush, William F. Sheehan, Michael C. Murphy, Patrick Divver, John Y. McKane, Bernard Martin, William Sulzer, George B. McClellan, Thomas F. Grady, Thomas F. Gilroy, Jacob L. Cantor, Henry D. Purroy, Frank Rice and Richard Croker. There were over 300 delegates, and these were the ones whose names were honored with applause. There was quite an uproar when the name of the Tammany chief was called. He sat through it all stolid, with his eyes on the wall and his hands, covered with brown gloves to match his hat, spread over his knees. All the others had smiled with gratification, but the boss of them all simply looked at the wall till the tumult was over.

During the roll-call, as the counties were reached in which there were contests, the clerk paused to receive the papers of the contestants. He collected quite a roll of them. Then the Speaker, Mr. Sulzer, arose and in measured tones moved that the rules of the Assembly be the rules of this convention so far as they were adaptable. And Mr. McCarren, of Brooklyn, moved the appointment of a Committee on Credentials. Mr. Hinckley, of Dutchess, moved the appointment of a Committee on Per-manent Organization. Mr. Croker moved the appointment of a Committee on Platform, and Mr. Purroy of a committee to nominate fifteen delegates-at-large to the Constitutional Convention. Each mover hopped up as the previous one dropped down, the committees were appointed and the convention adjourned, to meet to-morrow morning at 19 o'clock. The committees were constituted as follows:

DISTERING TO THE CONTESTANTS.

In further prosecution of the Croker plan of being polite to the Anti-Snappers, the Committee on Credentials sat this afternoon for nearly six hours listening to affidavits and arguments in cases of contested seats. District-Attorney Ridgway, of Brooklyn, one of the smoothest men in the machine, just the sort of man who, if he had to cut your .hroat or broil you over a fagot fire, could be relied upon to do it with the pleasantest possible manner and with numerous assurances of his personal respect and onsideration, was chairman of the committee, and J. C. Lully was secretary. The counties were gone over alphabetically and the contests taken up in that order. There were fifteen of them, the issue in each case being between mahine and Administration factions. No case was decided. The committee took no votes. It simply sat around and obeyed Mr. Croker's injunction to be polite. Questions were asked of the various persons who came forward to press the claims of their particular faction and Mr. Ridgway nodded his head with the utmost appreciation of every point made on either side. He looked serious throughout the entire hearing. It was six hours long, and it is said that he never once smiled, but that as the Anti-Snappers severally told their tales of weenever once smiled, but that as the Anti-Snappers severally told their tales of woelow the Snappers had taken them heels and head and had ignominiously pitched them out of their county conventions, how their protestations were received with recilings, and how, repressed, oppressed and suppressed, they now appealed for justice to this high tribunal of impartial, high-minded and patriotic Democrats—Mr. Ridgway shook his head sadly in sympathy and hopefully in encouragement. The contests were in the IVth District of Albany, where the Hill irregulars seek to unseat the Herrick Anti-Snappers; in Chautauqua, where a Hill balter wants the seat of an Administration Herrick Anti-Snappers; in Chautauqua, where a Hill bolter wants the seat of an Administration regular; in Chenango, where the Anti-Snappers regular; in Chenango, where the Anti-Snappers who at the County Convention escaped from under Elliot Danforth's gavel and sought refuge in another hall, want Elliot's place and scalp; in Franklin, where one Anti-Snapper is quarrelling with a good machine regular; in Livingston, where the Hill people having triumphed, must now defend their victory; in Monroe, where the Administration forces won and were plainly entitled to be put on the roll of the temporary organization. But here Mr. Croker's rule of politeness was violated. That case involved a State Committeeman—Hill's friend, Tracy. It was no part of Mr. Croker's plan, as he explained it, to sacrifice anything langible. He was willing enough to recognize the Anti-Snappers when and where they would be justified with recognition, but not where it would strike at the interrity of the machine. The Monroe case, therefore, was not left to Mr. Ridgway's charming sympathies. The Hill people were seated by the State Committee. They were as plainly a "paper delegation" as machine trickery ever invented, but they got into the convention just the same and got into the convention just the same and Tracy was saved to the State Committee. fought and overthrown the Anti-Snappers, led by the discredited Mr. Poucher. Mr. Poucher did not get the Custom-house, and he sees in that distressing circumstance the occasion of his discomfiture There was a contest, of course, in Queens, where the redoubtable "Paddy" Gleason encountered the unconquerable Lord Mayor and got into his usual peck of trouble; and in Rockland, where the Anti-Snap-pers won and the Hill men don't like it; in pers won and the Hill men don't like it, in Steuben, where both delegations were irregu-larly chosen, but the Hill men, backed by Con-troller Campbell, got the seats in the temporary organization and propose to hold them; in Sul-livan, where the Anti-Snappers triumphed and Beebe—"Bounding" Beebe—pleads their cases; in Wayne, where the same state of facts exists, and in Yates, where under the rule of polite-ness, the Administration men were admitted by the State Committee. To morrow morning at 9 o'clock the committee will meet again and a vote will be politely taken as to each of these

MR. WEED'S ERROR OF JUDGMENT.

Smith Weed has lost his State Committeeman after all. He had and is still supposed to have district. He elected them, anyhow. He sent them here, and undoubtedly pays their hotel them here, and undoubtedly pays their hotel bills. But two of them went back on him, and by a vote of 8 to 7 Patrick Moneyhan, a Hill man to the core, was chosen. Here, again, the strength and consistency of the machine being involved, the rule of politeness was abrogated. Inquiry as to what occurred to change the views of the two men who deserted Mr. Weed elicits a smile and a shrug of the shoulders. It was done, however, without any fight or any unseating of delegates. Mr. Weed simply made an error of judgment. He thought his men were his men, but at the critical moment they turned up as the other man's men.

NO INTEREST IN THE PLATFORM. No interest whatever is shown by the delegates in the platform. Nobedy mentions it or appears to think of it. It is said to be ready and to be a "well-rounded" document, whatever that may be. From the same source-one of that may be. From the same source—one of the craftsmen who are "rounding" it—the information was obtained that it will declare for the unconditional repeal of the Silver law and for the repeal of the Election laws. It will eulogize Cleveland with the usual phrases about his "rugged honesty" and his "fearless courage," and all that which comes under the rule of politices, being entirely Pickwickian and not affecting the integrity of the machine. There is some doubt about the character of the tariff plank, and one of the "rounders" says that all is some doubt about the "harders" says that all plank, and one of the "rounders" says that all reference to the tariff will be omitted. THE TICKET AS THE POSSES HIXED IT.

There is no change in the ticket. It remains as the bosses fixed it last night when they pulled in Mr. Meyer and pulled out Mr. Kirk. All the talk about a demonstration against Maynard on the floor of the convention has melted into thin air. It wouldn't be police. The melted into thin air. It wouldn't be polite. The Anti-Snappers will shout aloud in his honor with the Snappers for they have been "recognized"—they have two places on the ticket and Mr. Ridgway's respectful sympathy in the Committee on Credentials. The candidate for Treasurer goes fishing with "Dan' Lamont, and it is not thought possible that the Administration or its friends can object to a man who steals election returns when he is associated on the ticket with a man who fishes with Colonel Lamont. Even the needless ingratitude of Mugsteals election returns when he is associated on the ticket with a man who fishes with Colonel on the ticket with a man who fishes with Colonel Lamont. The nominating speech for Maynard will be made by Lawyer Van Aimee, who is said to be a member of the Reform Club and the Bar Association, neither of which organizations should be held responsible for him, though that is the evident purpose in putting him forward.

Mr. Purrov's committee to select the candidates for delegates-at-large has performed its work, but, as much pressure is being brought to bear on the committee to induce it to make changes, the names as now chosen are not announced. It is known, however, that they include General Henry W. Slocum, of Brooklyn; Frank Rice, of Canandalsma; Allen C. Beach, of Watertown, a brother-in-law of Governor Flower, an ex-Secretary of State and ex-Lieutenant-Governor; General George Magee, of Schuyler; ex-Congressman Greenleaf, of Rochester, whose selection is intended to please the Woman Suffragists, his wife being prominent in their movement; ex-Congressman Roswell P. Parmenter, of Renselaer; Diutrict-Attorney John Hackett, of Poughkeensie, and William P. Cantwell, of Malone, It will be observed that the scheme of all these selections is to make up the ticket from strong Republican communities.

> AGAINST THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES. THE MONMOUTH DEMOCRAT" WILL NOT SUP-PORT MEN WHO FAVORED RACETRACK LEGISLATION.

Freehold, N. J., Oct. 5 (Special).-Major James S. Yard, the veteran Editor of "The Monmouth Democrat," has come out strongly against the Democratic county candidates recently nominated. Major Yard said early in the campaign that his paper would not support men who favored racetrack ab's "Democrat" was published to-day, and on of the Major's editorial utterances is as follows: It ('The Democrat') repudiated in the name of the party the action in the Legislature last winter, and has never ceased to repudiate it, because it was alike a disgrace to the party and to the people of the State. It repudlates the action of the so-called Democratic Convention of the county last Monday because that convention insulted the moral sentiment of the county and State by placing upon its ticket as candidates for the most responsible State and local offices the names of men who, by their votes in the Legislature, assisted to bring disgrace upon the party and the people. 'The Democrat' enters upon this work of opposition to the election of these men with a full apprecia-tion of the responsibilities which it involves, and it calls—in full confidence that the call will be responded to with alacrity and enthusiasm-upon all good citizens of the county who have the best interests of the county and the good name and fame of the State at heart to unite with it in the effort to right this great wrong which has been perpe-In line with 'The Democrat' the honest sentiment of the county and State within and without the party, and it does not fear the result. The right most triumph. From every county comes up the word that the people are rising to wipe out the distractful laws of last winter, and the people of Monmouth will not be laggard in the contest."

NOMINATIONS BY THE REPUBLICANS.

Herkimer, N. Y., Oct. 5 (Special).-The Republican County Convention was held here to-day, W. C. Prescott was nominated for member of Assembly present County Treasurer, Theodore Baily, of Little Falls, and the nomination of John T. Kerrivan, of Frankfort. In the Hd District Eilis D. Elwood was nominated for School Commissioner, and in the 1st District Owen Williams was nominated. County Clerk N. E. Bansom, of Little Falls, was made chairman of the County Committee.

Rochester, N. V., Oct. 5 (Special).—Republicans of the XXIXth Senatorial District, including the counties of Orleans, Ningara, Genesee, Livingston and Wyoming, held their convention in this city tolay. Genesee County presented the name of William C. Watson, of Batavia, and Niagara that of Cuthhert W. Pound, of Lockport. On the first ballot Mr. Pound received twenty-one votes to fourteen for Mr. Watson, Livingston, Wyoming and Niagara supported Pound, while Orleans and Genesee cast their bailots for Watson, Mr. Pound's nomination was thereupon made unanimous. At nomination was thereupon made unanimous. At the District Constitutional Convention, held in-mediately afterward, these delegates were chosen: Myron L. Parker, Orleans; Nathan C. Woodward, Genesses; Lockwood R. Doty, Livingston; I. Sam Johnson, Wyoming; William Poole, Niagara.

THE POWER OF TAMMANY HALL DEFIED ASSEMBLYMAN BAHAN RENOMINATED IN THE

Tammany has a good-sized fight on hand in the IXth Assembly District, which may cost Mr. Croker member of the Legislature next winter. It became known through the IXth District some weeks ago that the "boss" had determined to dispensively the services of Assemblyman Walter W. Ba han, who had exhibited a degree of independence during the session which had caused Mr. Croker to speak of him as "too frivolous." When it was earned that the Assemblyman was to be "turned down" his friends rallied and formed an organiza tion, said to be 1,500 strong, called the Walter W Bahan Democratic Association of the IXth Assembly District. Seventy-one members of the Tan many Hall General Committee of the district be long to it. The association met last night. David Lioyd presided and George A. Buguey was secretary. Thomas E. Flannery, in a caustic speech, de lying Tammany and the machine, placed Mr. Bahan in the field for re-election, and he was nomnated by acclamation.

Mr. Bahan was sent for and he made an address thanking his constituents and accepting the nom nation. He said: "Not all the wealth of the Indie would induce me to pull out of the race. I am candidate until the polls close on election day. The committee appointed at the last meeting of the association to wait on James W. Boyle, the Tammany leader, reported that Mr. Boyle asked if Mr. Bahan would allow his name to go before the Tammany Hall Assembly Convention. A reply was seminary than Assembly Convention. A reply was ponents to catch him in a tran of that kind. A committee of five was appointed to confer with other Democratic organizations.

Bahan's plurality last year as the Tammany Hall candidate over John P. Rockefeller, Republicans was 1,187. Republicans believe that there is a chance to redeem the district next month.

A TALK WITH MR. PLATT.

There were two or three candidates who opered adquarters early in the afternoon at the Yates House. Among them were John Woodward, of Jamestown, candidate for Attorney-General, and A. B. Colvin, of Glens Falls, candidate for State Treasurer. Mr. Colvin has his rooms decorated with a piece of bunting, upon which were inscribed the words, " Nominate Addrson B. Colvin for State Treasurer and encourag ethe young men to come to thef ront." Ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt had oms on the second floor of the hotel. There he received bundreds of vistors in the course of the day, and there exchanged views with them as t the availibility of candidates, and what the State platform of the Republican party this year would contain. One missed in the gathering the bright face of J. Sloat Fassett; he is in rather poor health and has gone away to New-Mexico to recover his strength. In the course of the day Mr. Platt said to a friend :

"We are goin; to make this campaign on State issues. We will reaffirm our principles as set forth in the Minneapolis platform and go before the people with a good ticket. There are plenty of candidates, the best men in all sections of the State being desirous of going on the ticket. All of them, however, express a willingness to sucrifice personal and local claims or preferences for the best interests of the party. There is a general determination all along the line to win the make-up of the State ticket nothing has yet been decided upon. There is no slate and the ticket will be the result of deliberations in which every delegate will have a voice. I think that the candidate for the Court of Appeals should be a New-York City man, and one acceptable to the Bar Association, who are making the fight against Judge Maynard. I think the convention will finish its work to-morrow. It will, in my judgment, pay no attention to the progress of the Democratic convention at Saratoga, but it will adopt its platform, name the best ticket possible and adjourn with the determination to elect the ticket in November."

WHAT CHAIRMAN BROOKFIELD THINKS.

One prominent Republican who was frequently in Mr. Platt's rooms was ex-Genator Frank Hiscock. Mr. Hiscock was also of the opinion that a Republican lawyer of New-York City ought to be selected for the Republican candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals. Speaking about the convention, Chairman William Brookfield said: "I am unable to say very much about the legislation, and he is keeping his word. This REPUBLICAN NOMINEES IN NEBRASKA. probable action of the convention to-morrow, and take the chance of predicting the nomination. We of New-York City are very much interested in the candidacy of E. T. Bartlett for Judge of the Court of Appeals. He is an ideal candidate so far as the judiciary and bar are concerned, and a Republican of the highest standing. We are sure that he is just the man to defeat Mr. Maynard, who will seek vindication on the Democratic ticket. We will in our resolution stand by the Minneapolis platform, which we think was never ticket. We will in our resolution stand by the Minneapolis platform, which we think was never more popular with the people than since the success of the Democratic party last November. There is no thought of any delay in our proceedings for the result of the Saratoga Convention; in fact, I do not think there will be any occasion for such a plan.

Congressman Burleigh, who stood by during Mr. Brookfield's talk, said: "I agree with the chairman in everything he states. You may say, too, that the party was never more united than at present. There are no factions and no quarrels. We are going to nominate the best ticket we can, and then we are going to work for its success. I want to say more in Mr. Bartlett's praise than has our chairman; he is one of the oldest men of the New-York bar and comes of the best Now-England stock. His grandfather, Josiah Partlett, was Governor and Chief Justice of New-Hampshire, and Daniel Webster pronounced the culogy when he died. The grandson is an honor to his family and is the favorite candidate of the New-York Bar Association, an organization many of whose leading members are Democrats."

"I'p in our section of the State," Mr. Barleigh continued, "we are going to send from the strongest Republican districts in the State, comprising Washington, Essex, Warren, Clinton, Fulton and Hamilton, and Franklin, a Senator in F. D. Kilburn, who will be one of the strong men in the next Legislature."

"Well, if sunshine meant political success, we may congratulate ourselves," remarked a politicina to Louis F. Payn.

"Yes," replied the Chatham leader. "But the same sun is shining on the other fellows. There is something it the air here, however, which makes a Republican feel pretty good, and while the syn shines on the righteons and the unrighteons with count fervor, I'm thenking that the air in the State of New-York these days acrees better with Republicans than Democrats. Yes, we are going to win. The American neople know what they want this year, and the Democrats have made better arguments

THE DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES.

William A. Sutherland will probably be the chairman of the Committee on the Resolutions. The platform of the convention is already in measare drafted. It will denounce the Democratia Congress for its delay in passing the Sherman Silver Repeal bill, and will declare that the present financial disters is due to a fear of a revision of the terif. The theft of the State Legislature by the Democratic party and Judae Maymod's action in stealing the Inteless County election returns will be spoken of in suitably condemnatory terms. The attention of the people will be called to the fact that since 1891, when there was a Remultican Legislature, the State taxes have increased $5.000,000. The action of the Democratic Governor and Legislature in passing a law which depuives the Republican party of an equal number of election inspectors with the Democratic party will be denounced and a demand be made for non-partisan boards of election inspectors.

There is considerable talk to right about the candidates for delegates at large to the Constitutional Convention. Apparently the name of Congress for its delay in passing the Sherman Silcandidates for delegates-at-large to the Constitu-tional Convention. Apparently the name of Joseph H. Cheate will head the list and will be followed by that of Edward Lauterbach. The convention will be held in Alhambra Hall, which has been splendidly decorated with flags and bunting in honor of the occasion. DECORATIONS OF ALHAMERA HALL.

The delegates will be scated in the order of their Congress districts this year, instead of counties alphabetically as heretofore. The advantage of this arrangement, which is the work of John S. Kenyon, secretary of the State Committe, is apparent.

Retyon, secretary of the State Committee, is apparent.

Patrick S. Cullinan, of Oswego, a brilliant Irish Republican lawyer, was to-night selected by the State Committee as temporary chairman of the convention. According to the present outlook, William Brookfield will be re-elected chairman of the State Committee. He is not seeking the honor, but it is understood that though his personal inclinations would lead him to decline the office, he has consented to yield to the wishes of his friends, who believe his retention at the head of the committee to be for the best interests of the party.
